INTRODUCTION

Situation

You have recently joined a local environmental awareness group. To help you broaden your knowledge of environmental issues worldwide, the leader of the group is going to play you a tape of a radio programme about the practice of logging (cutting down trees) in the rainforests of Sarawak in Malaysia. He wants you to take notes while you are listening to the programme and has designed a workbook with note headings and diagrams in order to help you do so.

The radio programme is divided into two parts. In the first part you will hear an interview with two environmental activists and in the second part there will be a phone-in question-and-answer session.

Part I

In this part, you will hear an interview with two environmental activists.

You will have 5 minutes to familiarize yourself with the note-headings for Part I before the interview begins.

At the end of Part I, you will have 5 minutes to tidy up your answers.

Part II

In this part, you will hear a phone-in question-and-answer session.

You will have 3 minutes to familiarize yourself with the note headings for Part II before the session begins.

At the end of Part II, you will have 10 minutes to tidy up your answers.
